HOMEBREW RECAP

DE ANDY VE3FZK

CONTRIBUTORS TO PAARA's HOMEBREW SHOW-AND-TELL May 7, 1993

AA6PA Bill Rausch, two compact 2M quads good for RDF (Radio Direction Finding)

W6EMD Dave Meecham, a 750W 2M amplifier using an EIMAC conductively cooled tube, as in a recent QST front cover article

WA6LNV Gerry Tucker, an Incompleted DSP (Digital Signal Processor) box for taking out tuner-uppers on HF, etc., as in a late 1992 QST article

KB6HDC Joe Gomes, a battery replacement clip for an HT, allowing use of a larger belt-hung battery or other higher power sources

W6NBI Bob Stein, a noise generator for receiver design/test, as in his HAM RADIO article around 1979

K116EP Dick Kors, an SSTV (slow scan TV) unit, as in Jan 1993 QST

K6TYO Bill Fies, a foldup J-pole on a stand, a tiny homebrew SWR bridge, and he also brought his working Doppler RDF control box

N6ZFX Jeff Crilly, a code practice oscillator and attached Morse key, which he used to learn code for getting his ticket

VE3FZK Andy Korsak, a switched-dipole RDF antenna which you hold in front of an HT, looking for a null in a lone when you face the signal source

IT WAS SURE GREAT TO HAVE ALL THAT PARTICIPATION, AND IT'S GOOD THAT SOME OF US ARE STILL BUILDING STUFF IN HAM RADIO !!!!!!!!! From: VE3FZK@NOARY
